

GIULIA & VITO

Giulia and Vito's journey from high school sweethearts to husband and wife culminated in a wedding that epitomized elegance and romance.

The couple exchanged vows in a traditional Catholic ceremony at St. Paul of the Cross Church in Park Ridge. As she walked down the aisle, Giulia was a stunning vision in a high-neck lace gown by Essense of Australia from Here Comes the Bride. From her Jimmy Choo heels to her meticulously styled hair and makeup by Glam Atelier, she radiated beauty and happiness. By her side, her bridal party of eight wore two-toned black and champagne gowns, all holding classic white rose and hydrangea round bouquets.

After the grand ceremony, the couple and their wedding party took photos at Medinah Country Club, surrounded by the warm beauty of fall. But once indoors for their reception at Belvedere Banquets, guests were transported into a sleek vision in shades of black and champagne.

The couple's reception goal was to keep everyone dancing and out of their seats. With music that beckoned guests to the dance floor and illuminated marquee letters spelling the couple's last name casting a warm glow upon the festivities, this goal was achieved! Plus, the espresso martini bar and ice luge that kept spirits flowing certainly helped.

Reflecting on their day, Giulia shared, "We always knew we wanted to be with each other. [...] Even from the start, we both felt that this was something that would never really end." From their wedding day's huge smiles and infectious energy, you can see just how true that is.
